

Like many Americans, I am outraged that Sinclair Broadcast Group will preempt more than 60 local stations across America to air a lengthy non-news broadcast that masquerades as newsworthy just before the November 2 election.

FCC Commissioner Michael J. Copps has correctly stated that "This is an abuse of the public trust. And it is proof positive of media consolidation run amok when one owner can use the public airwaves to blanket the country with its political ideology -- whether liberal or conservative."

I urge you to investigate and ultimately block Sinclair from airing such overtly non-news broadcast under the guise of newsworthiness. It is an abuse of the stewardship of public airwaves and ultimately un-American.

Cordially,
David G. Rogers
